ABSTRACT

Formulations which can be used in the treatment of dermatological disorders, in particular psoriasis and methods of preparation of said formulations that is more acceptable for use and produces a more user friendly composition utilizing coal tar.